

IUCN
Programme on Protected Areas

How is your MPA doing?

A Guidebook of Natural and Social Indicators for Evaluating
Marine Protected Area
Management Effectiveness

Robert S. Pomeroy
John E. Parks
Lani M. Watson

IUCN
The World Conservation Union

Contents

	vii
Foreword	ix
Preface	1
Introduction	1
Purpose of this guidebook	1
Why evaluate management effectiveness?	3
What is 'management effectiveness'?	5
Things for you to consider when using this guidebook	7
How to use this guidebook	7
SECTION 1. THE EVALUATION PROCESS
Chapter 1. Selecting your indicators	15
1-1 Identify your MPA goals and objectives	15
1-2 Match relevant indicators to your MPA goals and objectives	17
1-3 Review and prioritize the indicators identified	17
1-4 Identify how the selected indicators relate to one another	18
Chapter 2. Planning your evaluation	21
2-1 Assess resource needs for measuring your indicators	21
2-2 Determine the audience(s) who will receive the evaluation results	23
2-3 Identify who should participate in the evaluation	24
2-4 Develop a timeline and a workplan for the evaluation	26
Chapter 3. Conducting your evaluation	27
3-1 Implement your evaluation workplan	27
3-2 Collect data	28
3-3 Manage collected data	30
3-4 Analyse collected data	32
3-5 Encourage peer review and independent evaluation of results	34
Chapter 4. Communicating results and adapting management	37
4-1 Share results with target audiences	37
4-2 Use results to adapt management strategies	40
Other considerations	42
References. Works cited in Section 1 and other useful materials	43
SECTION 2. THE MPA MANAGEMENT EFFECTIVENESS INDICATORS
The biophysical indicators	49
The socio-economic indicators	113
The governance indicators	163
Appendix. The MPA pilot sites	205
Glossary	213